19 February 1958

Mr. John T. Campbell, Head
BBC Monitoring Service
Caversham Park
Reading Berks, England

Dear John:

As Andy may have told you, [redacted] will be leaving Caversham in July of this year after a tour of nearly four years, a period which, from our point of view has been marked by many solid joint accomplishments and effective, friendly relationships between our staffs. We are planning to replace him with [redacted], who, I think is not known to you, although he was an editor at Caversham for a brief period in 1952. Before serving in England he was a year on Cyprus and afterward was Chief of our bureau in Vienna until 1955. Since his return to Washington he has been Chief of the Western Europe, Latin America, and Near East Section of our Daily Report. STAT STAT

[redacted] will remain in London for one year and in July of 1959 will exchange posts with [redacted] Assistant Chief at our Cyprus bureau, whom I think you know. I hope these relatively short tenures will not disturb your working staff, but I believe that since both men are well qualified and thoroughly familiar with the Middle East and our areas of joint coverage, this exchange should actually prove beneficial to Caversham-Kyrenia coordination. STAT STAT

Sincerely,

[redacted] STAT

Chief, FBIS

cc: Chief, London Bureau
